Notwithstanding the cold, blustering weather last night, the Dreamland theatre was well patronized. The superior excellence of the program is advanced as a reason. The new Biograph drama, "A Corner in Wheat," is about as good as they make them. The stock exchange is depicted in a telling manner and the accompanying high life is vividly drawn.

There was a large attendance at the first meeting of the week of prayer, held at the Methodist church last night. Dr. E. O. Thayer led the meeting and Revs. G. W. Winch and W. E. Braisted also participated. Another meeting will be held at the same place this evening, and at the Congregational church on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Edgar Allen Poe said:
"Hear the mellow wedding bells
Silver bells.
What a world of melody
Their harmony foretells!"
The bell ringers and Dumbler quartet Saturday night at opera house. Two hundred bells rung by hand by four men, in perfect symphony. Have you heard anything like that? Tickets at Kendrick's drug store Wednesday.
